Dear Future people

Hello people of 2015 I will be looking over you for I will see you open this time capsule I have left for you, and now I will tell you about me.

I am 34 and I am a assassin for diggers to hire and for me to kill, my name is Ben I help clear the streets of feral drunken diggers and also thieves, I don't like the solders they kill diggers with no licenses even if they aren't digging.

I live in the town in a very old house from my ancestors they were very stylish I was trained first by my dad when I was 12 and later on a retired assassin master.

When dad went to the gold fields he took me to a village a little way from the house that the old assassin lives in, they train me in climbing trees and hunting for food and dad would notice my new skills but he died from a assassin so I have been trying to kill that assassin.

Yet he lives in a rich man house and there are walls that I can climb but the security is very high so I can't climb the walls and this is the end of my note I leave you with my equipment take care.
